EXECUTIVE SUMMARY AND EXPERTISE

Simner Corporation is a bilingual Ottawa-based arbitration and workplace complaint investigation services and arbitration, with its headquarters in Ottawa. It is a successful aboriginal-owned and operated global resolution firm that provides conflict resolution and third-party neutral services across Canada working exclusively with the public sector.

Simner Corporation offers the services of former administrative judges and senior ADR professionals to arbitrate and mediate disputes and serve as a third-party neutral in fact-finding or investigation mandates. With over 16 years in Employment Law, Human Right Law and Human Resources experience, its President and CEO, Robert Néron, a Senior Lawyer, experienced Workplace Complaint Investigation and Chartered Arbitrator, is a former Senior Manager (equivalent to Regional Director) of the largest tribunal in Canada –the Immigration and Refugee Board. Mr. Néron has shifted his law practice to full-time neutral work as an arbitrator, conciliator, and workplace investigator (harassment complaint and other wrongdoing). Recent law and the broad exposure of disputes through the media have increased the employer's obligation to respond to workplace disputes in a timely and reasonable manner. The importance of a prompt and fair resolution in today's marketplace has created the need for firms specializing in neutral investigations.

At Simner Corporation, our dedication to actionable workplace investigations is exemplified by limiting our practice to arbitration and workplace investigation. We add value to this specialization by providing the public sector with a trained, skilled, and professional fact-finder who maintains the requisite independence, objectivity, and neutrality at all times during the investigation. All facts are gathered in an impartial manner and analyzed critically through an experienced legal lens. Procedural fairness and integrity are ensured throughout the process as the findings depict comprehensive analysis and reasoned conclusions. Our experience and methodology provides our clients with an effective tool to make the difficult but necessary decisions that may have a significant impact in the workplace and your market. Our goal is to provide you the clear, reasoned, and actionable reports to support your decisions before your employees, the public, and a tribunal, if necessary.

Simner Corporation is experienced in the analysis of complex workplace issues and is committed to facilitating the restoration of workplace relationships, providing interventions in large, complex, highly structured, unionized workplaces. Our consultants communicate with senior public servants, executives in the private sector, human resources professionals, union representatives, and legal professionals. The nature of its work as well as the level and positions of its clients requires superior communication skills, complete confidentiality, and the highest level of sensitivity. In recent years, we also have completed a number of investigations involving conflict of interest (under the values and ethics code for the public service), as well as disciplinary issues falling under various codes of conduct.

Simner Corporation has been retained by the governments of Canada, Nunavut, Ontario, and Quebec for arbitrating disputes, including labour grievances and assessing damages suffered by First Nations children while residing at different Indian Residential Schools across Canada. In the past years, our firm has been retained as a neutral third-party to investigate harassment complaints or other workplace wrongdoing by several federal departments. Simner Corporation is one of the few firms that had been selected by the Office of the Public Sector Integrity Commissioner of Canada to investigate mismanagement in the public service.

References from institutional clients can be provided upon request.

Our investigation service includes:

- Comprehensive reports including executive summaries, background, allegation by allegation review, and conclusions and, recommendations, if required.

Finally, Simner Corporation is an aboriginal firm that is pre-qualified by Industry Canada and the government of Canada for the Procurement Strategy for Aboriginal Business (PSAB) program.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The investigation will establish all relevant facts regarding the allegations and will determine, in each case, whether the complainant was the subject of harassment in the workplace.

Our investigations are thorough and impartial. In order to help our clients take preventive or remedial action, our reports present a careful analysis and synthesis of documentary and interview data and are written in clear, factual language. Throughout the investigation, the investigator will focus on the allegations made by the complainant. If during the investigation other facts or allegations beyond the scope of the harassment issue come to light, the investigator will promptly document and report these to the Delegated Authority that had retained its services.

OUR APPROACH

The primary role of the investigator is to uncover and corroborate facts in an objective manner, as the external third-party neutral. The investigator assigned to the investigation is thoroughly trained and fully independent to ensure the credibility of our investigation. Not only he is trained in harassment complaints, but he also has previously conducted several complaint investigations. In addition, the assigned investigator maintains the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness, and these values will guide us for the duration of our investigation.

Upon being retained, our approach entails the following:

1. After gathering all information related to the complaint/grievance and/or allegation(s) and determining the scope of the investigation and relevant witnesses, our firm enters into a specific retained agreement (mandate) in accordance with the client's requirements, while based on the National Master Standing Offer (NMSO).
2. In cases of alleged break of Code of Conduct and Internal Workplace Policies, the onus lies with the complainant to establish that the respondent did in fact discriminate against or harass the complainant. Recognizing that discrimination and harassment may often be subtle as well as overt actions with few witnesses and little documentary evidence as proof, a determination is based on a balance of probabilities.
3. The test used requires therefore a reasonable degree of probability, which allows the review committee to say, "We think it more probable than not" that the harassment occurred. If the probabilities are equal, the burden of proof is not met.

4. Full disclosure of the details of the complaint and the response is provided to the complainant and respondent, subject to the Access to Information Act. The respondent has a right to see the complaint made against her. Both the complainant and respondent have a right to read and approve their own statements, and all parties have the right to have someone acting as moral support to accompany them at the interview.
5. Each witness will also review and approve their respective statement.
6. Redirect interviews will be held as necessary with the complainant and respondent if further information is required based on witness statements.

OUR METHODOLOGY

After proceeding as described above, and subject to the Treasury Board's applicable Leadership, Simner Corporation then conducts all its investigations under the following methodology:

1. Establish relevant criteria for the harassment investigation, including legislation and workplace harassment policies. We identify and pursue all relevant issues. We maintain that identifying the issues and developing a rationale as to why they should be investigated is the basic tenet of the investigation assessment and planning process. The investigator will ensure that the investigation is conducted in a manner that is fair to all parties and that the principles and rules of due process and of procedural fairness are rigorously applied.
2. Our investigations are carefully planned. Thorough planning of an investigation includes narrowing down the issues and the allegations raised by a complainant, which is essential for a complete investigation. We structure our time line for the conduct of interviews and conclusion of the written report, contingent upon the availability of witnesses and the complexity of the matter being investigated.
3. We then review and consider all relevant evidence. Emails, policies, letters, procedures, protocols, assessment, minutes, memos, access logs, and guidelines are essential in every one of our investigations. Asking for the right documentation, making sure to get it, reviewing it thoroughly, understanding what it means, and looking for any gaps are among our investigator's most important duties.
4. We conduct interviews in the Official Language of the interviewee's choice, and all interviews will be conducted as soon as possible in locations that will not compromise the integrity of the investigation. A list of witnesses will be established and interviews arranged. Additional witness interviews will be added to the interview list as they are identified throughout the process. Witnesses are pivotal to all of our investigations, and our investigator has been trained to identify anyone who may be germane to the investigation.
5. Detailed notes are taken throughout the interview and are provided to the interviewee for the purposes of verification and approbation. If changes are requested by the interviewee, those changes will be noted by the investigators in the statement. The approved notes of the interview will become part of the document of record that will be used to create the preliminary and final harassment investigation reports.

6. At the start of the interview process, the investigator will state his mandate, including who the investigator is and how he came to be involved in the investigation process. The investigator also will describe the investigation process, including discussing the relevant policies, legislation, and collective agreement provisions; a description of the prima facie as the burden of proof; general time lines; and interview expectations, including cooperation, confidentiality, and the fact that all comments are on the record.
7. The investigator will provide each party and witness with an explanation of his role in the process and an overview of the principles that affect the process including their own policy, rules of disclosure as required by the Privacy Act and Access to Information Act, and the concept of procedural fairness. The investigation will identify gaps in information, potential sources of additional information and person who may be able to supplement or corroborate information;
8. The respondent will be given sufficient time to examine the allegations against him or her and to provide the investigator with a response to each of the allegations. Each party has the right to identify witnesses. The investigator will determine which witnesses shall be interviewed, based upon their relevance to the allegations raised. No assurance can be given to witnesses that their names and the information they provide will not be revealed to others. The investigator will advise witnesses that their names will be used in the investigation reports.
9. The eighth step to investigating harassment complaints is to ensure all participants know there is zero tolerance for retaliation against someone making an allegation or against any other employee. It is important to tell employees interviewed that the department has a policy to investigate all complaints, and this is the process to resolve employee complaints. We inform employees that under no circumstances should employees or managers retaliate against someone for making a complaint. The employees are advised that if an employee feels retaliation, or if an employee or management retaliates against someone else, they may be disciplined.
10. We ensure that the analysis of all materials gathered in the investigation will remain objective and grounded solely on facts. Based on our extensive investigation experience, analysis of evidence is based on three things: relevance, sufficiency, and credibility. Any piece of evidence that does not support our ultimate conclusion and findings will be fully considered and an explanation offered as to why it was rejected or given whatever weight was attributed to it. Our comprehensive methodology assures that our findings and conclusions will be logical, reasonable, and able to withstand scrutiny.
11. In investigating harassment, the question of whether a reasonable person ought to have known the behaviour was unwelcome is considered. At the same time, there is the question of whether a reasonable person would see the actions referred to in the complaint as harassment or is the complainant seeing harassment where it does not exist. Finally, the investigator will provide to the coordinator periodic verbal progress reports on the status of the process throughout the investigation or at the request of the coordinator.
12. It is to be noted that the investigator will ensure that the parties are aware of their rights and responsibilities, including the right to be accompanied and assisted by a person of their choice as a support person.

REVIEW, REPORTS, AND DELIVERY

Summary of facts and preliminary factual report

After interviews of the parties and pertinent witnesses have taken place, normally within 15 working days of completion of the interviews, a summary of facts is prepared and sent to the Delegated Authority for agreement by the relevant party. Shortly thereafter, a preliminary factual report will be prepared based on the summary of facts and will be distributed by the investigator to the parties through the Delegated Authority will then forward copies of the report to the parties for their input and comments. The parties would normally take about 10 working days to review the preliminary factual report.

Final Investigation Report

Upon conclusion of the interviews and after having received the preliminary report based on the summary of facts to the parties for their review and comments, our investigator will write a final report, which will include the following elements:

1. Executive Summary: A summary of the complaint, the respondent's statements, the witnesses' evidence, and findings of the investigation.
2. Background: A description of the complainant and respondent (positions, time with employer) and the number of witnesses. This also includes reference to pertinent legislation, regulation, policy, and collective agreement terms.
3. Evidence: A summary of the allegations and details of incidents from the perspective of the complainant, the respondent, and witnesses.
4. Analysis and Findings: The investigator's assessment of what happened (i.e., findings of fact).
5. Determination: Whether the incidents found to have occurred constitute harassment. In addition, three possible determinations can be made: the complaint is founded, in part or in totality; the complaint is unfounded; or the complaint is frivolous and/or vexatious.
6. Remedy: As expressly requested in your Statement of Work, if the complaint is founded, remedial action or disciplinary measure will be suggested.
7. Appendices: All relevant documentations (complaint, mandate, comments, emails, etc.) will be attached to the final report.

We will first provide one copy of the preliminary facts report for review and comment for the principals of the complaint the complainant and the respondent. After review and revision, we then write the final investigation report and provide five copies of our report detailing the findings, analysis, and conclusions of the investigation. If requested, we can provide a debriefing to management. Additionally, the investigator will brief the client representative on the progress of the investigation throughout the course of the assignment.

To maintain confidentiality, our reports are delivered in hardcopy and are not provided electronically unless agreed to, after discussion of the issues involved, and only through encryption with a secured password.

SOUTHERN ONTARIO REGION - STATEMENT OF WORK: HARASSMENT COMPLAINT INVESTIGATION

OBJECTIVE

To conduct an investigation on behalf of the CBSA pursuant to the Treasury Board Secretariat (TBS) Directive on the Harassment Complaint Process as well as the Policy on Harassment Prevention and Resolution and to provide written reports of findings and recommendations of the investigation to the Delegated Manager.

BACKGROUND

As the employer of the Federal Public Service (FPS), the Treasury Board is committed to providing a work environment where all persons working for the FPS are treated with respect and dignity.

The Policy on Harassment Prevention and Resolution and the Directive on the Harassment Complaint Process provide a mechanism for FPS employees to submit a formal harassment complaint.

Formal complaints are managed by the Delegated Manager with the assistance and support of the Regional and/or the National Labour Relations Advisors, as may be appropriate. Complaints are submitted in the form of harassment in the workplace. The Complaint that is the subject of this Statement of Work has been characterized by the Complainant as a harassment complaint.

The TBS Policy on Harassment Prevention and Resolution ("the Policy") defines "harassment" at: <http://www.tbs-sct.gc.ca/pol/doc-eng.aspx?id=26041>.

The purpose of this investigation is to conduct a formal investigation for the CBSA regarding allegations of Harassment, including examining the allegations brought forward by the Complainant to determine if they meet the definition of "harassment" and to provide written reports of findings and recommendations to the Delegated Manager.

SCOPE OF WORK

The scope of work will involve investigation of the complaint(s) and will include testimony from all relevant parties. Harassment needs to be addressed with sensitivity, promptness and discretion.

TASKS

The Investigator must investigate the complaints in accordance with the following terms and conditions:

1. The Investigator must prepare a quote for services with time frames and estimated cost.

2. The Investigator must review the complaint and ensure that the allegations are clearly identified, and that the Parties to the incident, relevant documentation and witnesses relevant to the allegations have also been identified.

If any new allegations or Parties are identified by the Investigator during the course of the investigation, he/she must notify the Delegated Manager prior to undertaking any action and seek the CBSA's approval for any resultant required action.

3. The Investigator must investigate the allegations of harassment as contained in the complaint as defined in the TBS Policy on Harassment Prevention and Resolution.

The Investigator must apply the principles of procedural fairness and natural justice.

The Investigator must adhere to the following timeframes, or timeframes as may otherwise be agreed to by the Parties to this Statement of Work in writing:

Commence working on or about: July 25, 2019

Investigation Phase Completion Date: August 28, 2019

Final Report submitted to CBSA: September 30, 2019

Or if such timeframes are extended they must be mutually agreed upon by both Parties in writing.

4. The Investigator must provide the CBSA representative responsible for coordinating the investigation with the list of witnesses and a list of any of the relevant documentation required. The CBSA representative will provide the Investigator with the telephone numbers or other contact information for the Parties and witnesses, will inform them that the Investigator will be in contact with them, and will assist in arranging the date, time and location of the interview(s).
5. The Investigator must conduct interviews in either English/French language. Interviews must be conducted during the Parties' regular working hours, unless circumstances dictate otherwise and approved by the Project Authority.
6. The Investigator must explain the harassment investigation process, including the right of the Parties to have a person of their choice (who is not a Party nor a witness in the investigation) accompany them, and must respond to questions from the Parties or witnesses concerning the investigation process.
7. The Investigator must ensure that the Parties have sufficient opportunity to review the allegations and respond to them, either verbally or in writing. If Parties provide comments/responses verbally, the Investigator must record the information and obtain a signed statement.

8. If applicable, the Investigator must advise the CBSA representative of any failure to cooperate on the part of a Party, witness or advisor. The Investigator must provide periodic verbal or written progress reports to the CBSA representative on the status of the investigation as may be requested.
9. The Investigator must ensure that all relevant documentation and witnesses in support of responses are identified, and must determine what additional information might be required to clarify and allow a full assessment of the facts related to the allegations.
10. The Investigator must allow the Parties and witnesses to review their statements as recorded and ask them to sign witness statements to confirm accuracy immediately following interviews or as soon as practicable thereafter.
11. Once all interviews are completed or as soon as practicable thereafter, the investigator must provide CBSA with a copy of the Preliminary Statement of Facts.
12. If appropriate based on the evidence received and/or requested by the Delegated Manager or CBSA Representative, the Investigator must determine if any Party or witnesses knowingly made false or vexatious or malicious statements or complaints, or if a complaint was made in bad faith, and prepare a separate report to the CBSA in relation to that issue.
13. Once all investigative activity is finalized, the Investigator must produce a Final Report to the CBSA, ensuring that all findings, conclusions, and recommendations are included. Upon submission of the Final Report, the Investigator must submit the entire investigation file to the CBSA representative along with all documentation collected.

Simner Corporation is a bilingual Ottawa-based arbitration and workplace investigation firm, with its headquarters in Ottawa. It is a successful aboriginal-owned and operated global resolution firm that provides conflict resolution and third-party neutral services across Canada working exclusively with the public sector.

Simner Corporation offers the services of former administrative judges and senior ADR professionals to arbitrate and mediate disputes and serve as a third-party neutral in fact-finding or investigation mandates. With over 21 years in Employment Law, Human Right Law and Human Resources experience, its President and CEO, Robert Néron, a Senior Lawyer, experienced Workplace Complaint Investigation and Chartered Arbitrator, is a former Senior Manager (equivalent to Regional Director) of the largest tribunal in Canada –the Immigration and Refugee Board. Mr. Néron has shifted his law practice to full-time neutral work as an arbitrator, conciliator, and workplace investigator (harassment complaint and other wrongdoing). Recent law and the broad exposure of disputes through the media have increased the employer's obligation to respond to workplace disputes in a timely and reasonable manner. The importance of a prompt and fair resolution in today's marketplace has created the need for firms specializing in neutral investigations.

At Simner Corporation, our dedication to actionable workplace investigations is exemplified by limiting our practice to arbitration and workplace investigation. We add value to this specialization by providing the public sector with a trained, skilled, and professional fact-finder who maintains the requisite independence, objectivity, and neutrality at all times during the investigation. All facts are gathered in an impartial manner and analyzed critically through an experienced legal lens. Procedural fairness and integrity are ensured throughout the process as the findings depict comprehensive analysis and reasoned conclusions. Our experience and methodology provides our clients with an effective tool to make the difficult but necessary decisions that may have a significant impact in the workplace and your market. Our goal is to provide you the clear, reasoned, and actionable reports to support your decisions before your employees, the public, and a tribunal, if necessary.

Simner Corporation is experienced in the analysis of complex workplace issues and is committed to facilitating the restoration of workplace relationships, providing interventions in large, complex, highly structured, unionized workplaces. Our consultants communicate with senior public servants, executives in the private sector, human resources professionals, union representatives, and legal professionals. The nature of its work as well as the level and positions of its clients requires superior communication skills, complete confidentiality, and the highest level of sensitivity. In recent years, we also have completed a number of investigations involving conflict of interest (under the values and ethics code for the public service), as well as disciplinary issues falling under various codes of conduct.

Simner Corporation has been retained by the governments of Canada, Nunavut, Ontario, and Quebec for arbitrating disputes, including labour grievances and assessing damages suffered by First Nations children while residing at different Indian Residential Schools across Canada. In the past years, our firm has been retained as a neutral third-party to investigate harassment complaints or other workplace wrongdoing by several federal departments. Simner Corporation is one of the few firms that had been selected by the Office of the Public Sector Integrity Commissioner of Canada to investigate mismanagement in the public service.

References from institutional clients can be provided upon request.

Our investigation service includes:

- Comprehensive reports including executive summaries, background, allegation by allegation review, and conclusions and, recommendations, if required.

Finally, Simner Corporation is an aboriginal firm that is pre-qualified by Industry Canada and the government of Canada for the Procurement Strategy for Aboriginal Business (PSAB) program.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The investigation will complete a workplace investigation and will determine if the allegation of wrongdoing and/or misconduct are founded or not.

Our investigations are thorough and impartial. In order to help our clients take preventive or remedial action, our reports present a careful analysis and synthesis of documentary and interview data and are written in clear, factual language. Throughout the investigation, the investigator will focus on the allegations made by the complainant. If during the investigation other facts or allegations beyond the scope of the wrongdoing issue come to light, the investigator will promptly document and report these to the Delegated Authority that had retained its services.

OUR APPROACH

The primary role of the investigator is to uncover and corroborate facts in an objective manner, as the external third-party neutral. The investigator assigned to the investigation is thoroughly trained and fully independent to ensure the credibility of our investigation. Not only he is trained in workplace complaints of wrongdoing, but he also has previously conducted several complaint investigations. In addition, the assigned investigator maintains the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness, and these values will guide us for the duration of our investigation.

Upon being retained, our approach entails the following:

1. After gathering all information related to the complaint/grievance and/or allegation(s) and determining the scope of the investigation and relevant witnesses, our firm enters into a specific retained agreement (mandate) in accordance with the client's requirements, while based on the National Master Standing Offer (NMSO).
2. In cases of alleged break of Code of Conduct and Internal Workplace Policies, the onus lies with the complainant to establish that the respondent did in fact committed wrongdoing.
3. The test used requires therefore a reasonable degree of probability, which allows the review committee to say, "We think it more probable than not" that wrongdoing occurred. If the probabilities are equal, the burden of proof is not met.

4. Full disclosure of the details of the complaint and the response is provided to the complainant and respondent, subject to the Access to Information Act. The respondent has a right to see the complaint made against her. Both the complainant and respondent have a right to read and approve their own statements, and all parties have the right to have someone acting as moral support to accompany them at the interview.
5. Each witness will also review and approve their respective statement.
6. Redirect interviews will be held as necessary with the complainant and respondent if further information is required based on witness statements.

OUR METHODOLOGY

After proceeding as described above, and subject to the Treasury Board's applicable Leadership, Simmer Corporation then conducts all its investigations under the following methodology:

1. Establish relevant criteria for the investigation, including legislation and workplace policies. We identify and pursue all relevant issues. We maintain that identifying the issues and developing a rationale as to why they should be investigated is the basic tenet of the investigation assessment and planning process. The investigator will ensure that the investigation is conducted in a manner that is fair to all parties and that the principles and rules of due process and of procedural fairness are rigorously applied.
2. Our investigations are carefully planned. Thorough planning of an investigation includes narrowing down the issues and the allegations raised by a complainant, which is essential for a complete investigation. We structure our time line for the conduct of interviews and conclusion of the written report, contingent upon the availability of witnesses and the complexity of the matter being investigated.
3. We then review and consider all relevant evidence. Emails, policies, letters, procedures, protocols, assessment, minutes, memos, access logs, and guidelines are essential in every one of our investigations. Asking for the right documentation, making sure to get it, reviewing it thoroughly, understanding what it means, and looking for any gaps are among our investigator's most important duties.
4. We conduct interviews in the Official Language of the interviewee's choice, and all interviews will be conducted as soon as possible in locations that will not compromise the integrity of the investigation. A list of witnesses will be established and interviews arranged. Additional witness interviews will be added to the interview list as they are identified throughout the process. Witnesses are pivotal to all of our investigations, and our investigator has been trained to identify anyone who may be germane to the investigation.
5. Detailed notes are taken throughout the interview and are provided to the interviewee for the purposes of verification and approbation. If changes are requested by the interviewee, those changes will be noted by the investigators in the statement. The approved notes of the interview will become part of the document of record that will be used to create the preliminary and final investigation reports.

6. At the start of the interview process, the investigator will state his mandate, including who the investigator is and how he came to be involved in the investigation process. The investigator also will describe the investigation process, including discussing the relevant policies, legislation, and collective agreement provisions; a description of the prima facie as the burden of proof; general time lines; and interview expectations, including cooperation, confidentiality, and the fact that all comments are on the record.
7. The investigator will provide each party and witness with an explanation of his role in the process and an overview of the principles that affect the process including their own policy, rules of disclosure as required by the Privacy Act and Access to Information Act, and the concept of procedural fairness. The investigation will identify gaps in information, potential sources of additional information and person who may be able to supplement or corroborate information;
8. The respondent will be given sufficient time to examine the allegations against him or her and to provide the investigator with a response to each of the allegations. Each party has the right to identify witnesses. The investigator will determine which witnesses shall be interviewed, based upon their relevance to the allegations raised. No assurance can be given to witnesses that their names and the information they provide will not be revealed to others. The investigator will advise witnesses that their names will be used in the investigation reports.
9. The ninth step to investigating the complaint is to ensure all participants know there is zero tolerance for retaliation against someone making an allegation or against any other employee. It is important to tell employees interviewed that the department has a policy to investigate all complaints, and this is the process to resolve employee complaints. We inform employees that under no circumstances should employees or managers retaliate against someone for making a complaint. The employees are advised that if an employee feels retaliation, or if an employee or management retaliates against someone else, they may be disciplined.
10. We ensure that the analysis of all materials gathered in the investigation will remain objective and grounded solely on facts. Based on our extensive investigation experience, analysis of evidence is based on three things: relevance, sufficiency, and credibility. Any piece of evidence that does not support our ultimate conclusion and findings will be fully considered and an explanation offered as to why it was rejected or given whatever weight was attributed to it. Our comprehensive methodology assures that our findings and conclusions will be logical, reasonable, and able to withstand scrutiny.
11. The investigator will provide to the coordinator periodic verbal progress reports on the status of the process throughout the investigation or at the request of the coordinator.
12. It is to be noted that the investigator will ensure that the parties are aware of their rights and responsibilities, including the right to be accompanied and assisted by a person of their choice as a support person.

REVIEW, REPORTS, AND DELIVERY

Summary of facts and preliminary factual report

After interviews of the parties and pertinent witnesses have taken place, normally within 15 working days of completion of the interviews, a summary of facts is prepared and sent to the Delegated Authority for agreement by the relevant party. Shortly thereafter, a preliminary factual report will be prepared based on the summary of facts and will be distributed by the investigator to the parties through the Delegated Authority will then forward copies of the report to the parties for their input and comments. The parties would normally take about 10 working days to review the preliminary factual report.

Final Investigation Report

Upon conclusion of the interviews and after having received the preliminary report based on the summary of facts to the parties for their review and comments, our investigator will write a final report, which will include the following elements:

1. Executive Summary: A summary of the complaint, the respondent's statements, the witnesses' evidence, and findings of the investigation.
2. Background: A description of the complainant and respondent (positions, time with employer) and the number of witnesses. This also includes reference to pertinent legislation, regulation, policy, and collective agreement terms.
3. Evidence: A summary of the allegations and details of incidents from the perspective of the complainant, the respondent, and witnesses.
4. Analysis and Findings: The investigator's assessment of what happened (i.e., findings of fact).
5. Determination: Whether the incidents found to have occurred constitute wrongdoing or misconduct. In addition, three possible determinations can be made: the complaint is founded, in part or in totality; the complaint is unfounded; or the complaint is frivolous and/or vexatious.
